Four Injured In Crash On Whipple Ave.

Two Local Cars In Collision At Intersection

Four Redwood City residents were injured, none apparently very seriously, when two automobiles crashed at the intersection of Whipple avenue and King street about 1:00 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The injured were Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Manuels of 875 Durlston road, Edgewood Park, Mrs. Anna Jenkins of Eaton avenue and Mrs. John Kroiger of Oak Knoll drive. Mr. and Mrs. Manuels were suffering from cuts and bruises and injuries to the back, Mrs. Jenkins incurred cuts and abraisions about the body, while Mrs. Kroiger received a severe cut on the face and bruises about the body.

Mrs. Jenkins and Mrs. Kroiger were taken to the office of Dr. J. Harper Peddicord where after treatment they were removed to their homes. Mr. and Mrs. Manuels were treated for their injuries at their home by Dr. H. A. Clattenburg.

The Manuel's car driven by Manuels was crossing Whipple avenue from the north and the other machine with Mrs. Jenkins at the wheel was going east on Whipple avenue when the crash occurred. Officer Sylvester Douglass investigated the accident.

Fire in House Leads to Jail

As a result of a small fire at his home on Diller street Wednesday, Charles Zinola, local barber, faces a charge of illegal possession of liquor. The fire occured in some fire wood stored beneath the rear steps of the house. It was extinguished by the fire lepartment before any great amount of damage had been done to the building.

In the course of the fire Officer Douglass discovered a quantity of liquor stored in the basement of the house and placed Zinola under arrest for illegal possession.

A card party wil be held this evening at the Foresters hall by the Redwood City Social and Development Association.

Redwood Stores Will Be Closed All of Saturday

The food stores of Redwood City will close Saturday, this being Washington's birthday and a legal holiday. A canvass of the various stores of the city indicates that all food stores will observe this national holiday by closing their doors and giving their employees an opportunity to enjoy the day.

As the stores will be closed on Saturday, the people of Redwood City are being asked by the merchants to do their shopping on Friday for the week-end. To encourage early shopping the various food stores are offering unusual specials in food products. By taking advantage of these bargains considerable savings can be effected.

Whether or not you take advantage of these specials, the stores of Redwood City ask that you assist them to give their clerks a holiday by buying early for the week-end needs.

Exchange Talk On Washington

An interesting talk on the life of George Washington was given before members of the Redwood City Exchange Club at the regular weekly meeting of the club at the Sequoia Hotel. The speaker of the evening was Fred Blase, member of the faculty of the Sequoia Union High Schooil. The speaker presented many facts concerning the life of the national hero, depicting him as a flesh and blood man and very human. His address was much appreciated by the Exchangites.

An interesting feature of the evening was a recording ot Lincoln's Gettsburg address recorded by Harry James. The record was furnished by Guy R. Kennedy, and it is supposed to be as near the voice of Lincoln's as has ever been recorded. The autobiography of the evening was given by Al Sparks, local representative of the California Automobile Association.

Colin Stokes reviewed the volleyball league situation. The chairman of the meeting was Adolph Keney.

Bus Line Request Before Commission

The application of the Peninsula Rapid Transit Co., and the Pacific Auto Stages, Inc., for permission to re-route their busses over the Bayshore highway was heard before the California Railroad Commission on Wednesday.

It is the plan of the bus companies to maintain the present half-hour schedule of the P. R. T. busses on El Camino Real. A half-hour schedule will be established on the Bayshore highway, thus giving peninsula points the advantage of a 15-minute bus schedule. It is planned to have all busses between San Francisco and San Jose stop at Redwood City.

The granting of the permit by the Railroad Commission was favored by the Redwood City council Monday night, and Paul McCarthy appeared at the hearing to represent this city.

Six Arrested for Operating Still

Federal prohibition officers on Monday conducted a raid on a large still found operating on a coastside ranch, and arrested six men, who are charged with operating the still. The men were arrested on the Perucci ranch at Moss Beach.

The men arrested were Aldino Mateucci, Pietro Rossellini, Pasquale Bertolucci, Elia Tognetti, Carlo Perra and Guido Guisto. The officers demolished the still and seized 1750 gallons of alcohol.

Registration Of County At 13,254 Today

Believe 40,000 May Be Registered During Season

The registration of voters of the county is going on at a lively pace. Since January 1st, 13,254 citizens have been registered, this being more than a third of the entire vote of the county. Last year the registration was 30,000. It is believed that the 40,000 mark will be reached this year. The rapid growth of the county would indicate this increase.

Less than a month remains to register for the forthcoming municipal elections. Registration closes on March 15. As there will be many aspirants for office in the various municipalties throughout the county, the registration from now until March 15 will be heavy.

EDUCATION

EDITORIAL

Practically every child in the higher grade schools, high schools, as well as every adult in Redwood City will be vitally interested in the page on school statistics that appears in this week's issue of the Times-Gazette, headed "The Value of An Education."

They are not dry, complicated figures; they are plain, proven, sensible figures. As adults we are interested in seeing that every child in Redwood City is given the opportunity and urged to take advantage of it, to have the maximum education possible to obtain, and we must make it available for them; as students now in school, we will be interested to see the proven comparative earnings figure in considering the future that is before us.

Getting an education is not like buying a car, in which case we can put off the decision from one year to another. Getting a proper education is a one-time proposition. It's a "do it now" proposition.

The advantages for this education are before you here in Redwood City. When you have referred to the chart in this issue you will realize the need Redwood City has for you on completion of the sort of education that will fit you for maximum success!

BRIGHT FUTURE FOR REDWOOD PREDICTED BY REALTOR HEAD

W. H. Daum, State President of Real Estate Association, Says That California Will Lead Nation In Industry

"In the preparing of deep water channels and the filling of the land so that it is ready for immediate occupancy of industries, and the installation of railroad spur tracks and streets; with water, power and natural gas and fuel for fuel, Redwood City has taken the necessary steps that should receive consideration from industrial leaders seeking economic and profitable locations."

This was the statement of William H. Daum, president of the California Real Estate Association, in an address before over 100 members of the Redwood City, Burlingame, San Mateo and Palo Alto District Real Estate Boards and local service club men, at a dinner held at the Sequoia Hotel Wednesday night.

The statement was made after Daum visualized the wonderful industrial and commercial development of California in recent years and had predicted that the "industrial capital of the world will soon be in California and that the state will before long be the happy home of more people than any other state in the Union."

The speaker visioned the peninsula south of San Francisco and particularly Redwood City taking on the same industrial appearance as Long Island and Brookylin adjacent to New York, or some of the great industrial communities on the New Jersey side of the Hudson river, with the great facilities of San Francisco bay and the ship lines operating out of that port distributing the products of the local factories for the world-wide markets.

"It is going to take the united effort of your Realty Board and your Chamber of Commerce, and your industrial-minded citizens, to decide upon the type of industry that you want in your midst, the type of industry that you find can successfully compete for the domestic trade of the United States and in the markets of the world, so that all of the industries that come to your community will be successful and prosperous," said Daum. "When you decide upon that type, if you will all put a shoulder to the wheel in a united effort to spread the news that Redwood City has the facilities, the industrial-minded citizenship an appreciation of payrolls of industries and a desire to make of Redwood City a great industrial and commercial community. Be sure also that the reputation that your city bears in the minds of the of the management of industries already with you is favorable.

"There is no legitimate reason that I can discover why you cannot succeed if your realtors will call upon the management of those industries that are already here, and inquire from them whether or not they are satisfied with the conditions under which they are operating. In this way you will quickly ascertain what your reputation is in the minds of the existing managements, and if you find there is anything you can do to help your industries to increase their output and employ more labor, get busy with an earnest desire to perform the things they legitimately ask of you, and thus aid in the up-building of your city.

"Guard well the reputation for happiness and contentment among your entire citizenship so that the casual visitor to your city may be inspired to live within your city and become one of you."

Speaking on the future of California and this immediate locality, President Daum said:

"I want you to get the picture of California as I see it:

"California is a magnet to the people of the world. The magic lamp of Aladdin in the hands of the most skilled magician could hardly work fast enough to keep up with the industrial and commercial development of California in recent years. Here in California statistics are often history because such great progress has been made before the figures are available. However, more than 250,000 more homes are ocupied by industrial workers and artisans in California at the beginning of 1930 than were within the state in 1910; and more than 1,250,000 more citizens of California are living off the industries of California than was the case twenty years ago.

" 'Industrial-mindedness' has been the slogan of the Industrial Division of the California Real Estate Association and has been preached up and down this state for many years.

"California is making state-wide progress today in a diversified industrial and commercial life that has never been equalled or even aproached by any other state in the Union, and such progress is being accomplished without building any particular line of endeavor strong at the expense or possible destruction of other lines, and is moving forward at a most rapid stride, but with order and precision like clock work.

"During 1928, according to figures furnished by the California State Chamber of Commerce, one billion and thirty million dollars were added by manufacture to the value of agriculture and mining products of the great state. That is why California has progressed among the states from away down at the end of the line to eighth place in 1927, and probably sixth place at this date, in the total value of manufactured products of the state.

"All of this progress has caused the Pacific ports of California to be served by ocean shipping second to none in the world, and a foreign commerce which resulted in over three hundred forty-three million dollars of export trade in 1928 and two hundred fifty-two millions of foreign imports during the same period.

"California-made products can in a general way compete with practically all other centers of manufacture in cost and distribution of their products to the entire consum-

Hod Carrier's Brush Wins Fame

Denver, Colo.—Twenty years ago a bearded and rugged Westerner took a stub pencil from his pocket, leaned over the counter of a frontier saloon, and reproduced from memory a scene he had witnessed years before in a theater in Cincinnati.

It was Michael Edward O'Brien, standing alone inspired by his first creative mood, while laughter and the fumes of whisky filled the room.

In a little while the sketch was finished—even to the bridge across the Thames. His comrades crowded around, praising his work, though they didn't understand.

Today, "Viewing the Oaks," painted by O'Brien, hangs in the Denver Art museum among an exhibit of the work of native Colorado artists. It was the first picture of the exhibit to be sold.

Behind that picture lies the story of an ordinary hod carrier with a family to support, who never shirked his responsibility and never became discouraged.

Those few words of approbation which his comrades had spoken to him of his drawing on the bar spurred him on. His wife encouraged him, although she was busy with the household.

At nights the hod carrier, noted for feats of strength when he was a young man, would go to his home in Denver's most unpretentious residential district and for hours then his work-worn hands would yield to the imaginative power of his inner self.

Because he was forced to work at night many of the tints were not what they should be, and daylight found his work done in vain. He worked on them, however, until they were perfected.

O'Brien never had an education for a background. He paints mostly from memory, which fact, it is said, is responsible for the unusual degree of imaginativeness found in his pictures. Occasionally, his wife says, he goes off to the mountains, but always tears up his sketches when he comes back and paints his scenes from memory.

A few of his pictures have been sold, and these funds have been a genuine relief from the poverty that dogged him for so long.

Museum officials are making an effort to have a special exhibit of his work in recognition for this latest picture, "Viewing the Oaks."

Find Grandchild of Napoleon

Paris.—The granddaughter of Napoleon Bonaparte, first emperor of France, has been discovered living in a tiny cottage, squeezed in among factories and truck gardens, in a suburb of Paris.

She is Madame Mesnard Leon, a retired school teacher, credited with being the only direct living descendant of the famous Corsican. All Bonaparte princes alive today are descended from Napoleon's brothers. Madame Leon is the daughter of the celebrated Count Leon, who was born of the Emperor Napoleon and Eleonore de la Plaigne.

"The news of my father's birth was received by Napoleon at Pultusk, Poland, when he was preparing the campaign that culminated in the victory of Friedland," said Madame Leon in a press interview. "Napoleon was already thinking of divorcing the childless Empress Josephine, so you can imagine what consequences the news of my father's birth might have had.

"But what could Napoleon do? Nothing. Marriage with my grandmother was out of the question on account of the political situation at that time and the wars abroad. The whole of France might have been threatened."

She then related that Napoleon bestowed the latter half of his name on his child, calling him Count Leon. The child grew up to play a colorful role in the social world of that time and gained a reputation as one of the foremost duelists of France.

Madame Leon also revealed that her only son was killed in the World war at Rheims in 1917 at the age of twenty-one. This was the first indication that a direct descendant of Napoleon took part in the World war.

Madame Mesnard Leon had led a quiet but comfortable life. Since 1923 she has lived at Stains, a suburb of Paris, with her daughter, now grown into womanhood.

THE STILL SMALL VOICE

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Captain Flannery, the arrogant police officer in Earl Derr Bigger's story "Behind that Curtain," was a great boaster. He was the sort who said much and did little, who made many promises and fulfilled few or none of them.

"How loud is the thunder, how little it rains," was the comment of Chan, the modest but shrewd Chinese postman who had succeeded in unraveling more mysteries than Flannery had ever gotten started upon.

His remark recalled vividly a common experience of my childhood—dark clouds rolling up most menacingly in the northwest so thickly that the whole prairie was enshrouded in semi-darkness; lightning flashing, heavy thunder reverberating through the air; animals running to cover to escape the approaching storm; fear of an awful downpour of rain gripping me, and then nothing but wind and a little dust in the air! "How loud the thunder; how little it rains!"

Elijah, you will remember, was to have an audience with the Lord. And he went out and stood. A fierce wind came and tore up trees and piled great rocks one upon another, and tore the mountains to pieces. And after the wind an earthquake and thunder and lightning and great commotion, but the Almighty did not reveal Himself in these things. It was when silence fell over the earth that Elijah heard the sound of the still small voice. Sunshine is noiseless; the waves of the ocean make little sound; the current of electricity running through the copper wire cannot be heard, and the strongest, most influential, most efficient men seldom do much talking.

One of the world's famous multimillionaires is quoted recently as saying that the way to get on in the world is to work hard, save your money and keep your mouth shut. Talking too much and too loudly is an indication of a rather thin coating of gray matter on the brain. Silence is far more ominous than noise. Composure, a quiet manner, the absence of boasting and bluster are generally indicative of strength. The man who says the least is often thinking the most deeply. It is the deep water that is the quietest.

The most successful, the most influential man in his power over other men whom I have ever known had the quietest voice, the most self-controlled manner which I have ever observed in a man. You would see him in a group of men excited over some serious situation or problem which had arisen, and while the others were shouting and gesticulating, and becoming more and more disturbed and upset, he would be quite composed. Then, in a soft voice, he would make a suggestion which cleared up the muddle and solved the difficulty. He seldom made a speech of any sort, but he directed legislation, he steered committees and organizations out of rough waters into smooth seas. There was little thunder about him, but a quiet beautiful refreshing shower of rain.

May Be of Macedonian Decent

Calcutta.—Doctor Jaroslav, a Russian scientist, who has recently returned from a visit to the heart of the Maria country in the jungle of India, brings back the intelligence that a long lost white race still exists amid the jungles of that section.

Doctor Jaroslav is planning shortly to return to continue his investigations. As a result of his statements scientists and students of history are asking if the Russian has come upon a long lost white race.

If so, how long have they been there? What is their origin? Are they descendants of Alexander's veterans, who entered India after their unparalleled succession of triumphs over the Persians more than 2,000 years ago?

Alexander the Great, king of Macedon, in 327 B. C., invaded India. He reached the Hydaspes, now known as the Jelum, and there defeated and took prisoner Porus, an Indian king. Thence he penetrated as far as the Garra, where his weary troops refused to proceed farther. Alexander was then forced to order the retreat, and sailed down the Jelum with some of his troops, while the remainder marched in two divisions along the river banks. So much of it is history.

A surmise, which almost amounts to a certainty, suggests that a portion of those troops which were marching on the bank were so worn out and disheartened that they took advantage of the temporary relaxation of discipline caused by Alexander's absence to desert from the main column. They then settled in the pleasant land in which they had found themselves.

It is the descendants of these men, driven and harried from place to place by a succession of invaders, that Doctor Jaroslav contends he has found in the Marias. They are one of the most primitive peoples of India, who have long been a source of study and bewilderment to ethnologists.

This Little Girl Got Well Quick

"Just after her third birthday, my little daughter, Connie, had a serious attack of intestinal flu," says Mrs. H. W. Turnage, 217 Cadwalder St., San Antonio, Texas. "It left her very weak and pale. Her bowels wouldn't act right, she had no appetite and nothing agreed with her.

"Our physician told us to give her some California Fig Syrup. It made her pick up right away, and now she is as robust and happy as any child in our neighborhood. I give California Fig Syrup full credit for her wonderful condition. It is a great thing for children."

Children like the rich, fruity taste of California Fig Syrup, and you can give it to them as often as they need it, because it is purely vegetable. For over 50 years leading physicians have recommended it, and its overwhelming sales record of over four million bottles a year shows it gives satisfaction. Nothing compares with it as a gentle but certain laxative, and it goes further than this. It regulates the stomach and bowels and gives tone and strength to these organs so they continue to act normally, of their own accord.

There are many imitations of California Fig Syrup, so look for the name "California" on the carton to be sure you get the genuine.

The Value of an Education

We hear so much about—the value of an education. We may all of us KNOW the value of an education, BUT do we actually REALIZE its value to us?

The figures in the above chart graphically demonstrate the value of an education. They furnish much food for thought.

The figures were prepared by the Bureau of Education of the United States government, and show the AVERAGE earning capacity of

1. People with no schooling—average earning—$400.00 to $1200.00 a year.
2. People with common school education—average earning—$600.00 to $1500.00 a year.
3. People with High School education—average earning—$850.00 to $2450.00 a year.
4. People with some College training—average earning—$1400.00 to $5000.00 a year.
5. College graduates—average earning—$6000.00 a year.

NOTE that these figures are based on AVERAGE earning CAPACITY. There are, on the other hand, many examples of successful men and women in the business world, with little, or no actual school education. These exceptions, however, but prove the rule.

Education MULTIPLIES the chances of success in life. It INCREASES OUR PERCENTAGE for success. SCHOOLING is one of the most profitable investments a person can make!

Education also increases our ability to grasp and enjoy "the better things of life."

The endorsers of this page realize that education creates A HIGHER STANDARD OF LIVING; a demand for BETTER LIVING CONDITIONS, and hence tends to make for the betterment of the community and the betterment of business in

The Hughes Appointment

By D. E. O'KEEFE

It is difficult to understand why twenty-six able and honest senators at Washington the other day voted against the confirmation of the appointment of Charles Evans Hughes for chief justice of the United States. Hughes is one of the outstanding lawyers of the nation, known internationally for his wisdom, for his great ability as a constitutional lawyer and for his integrity and fairness.

It would seem that the senate would consider it a privilege to vote for such a one, so thoroughly qualified for that august position, which in times past brought to it the best minds in the country.

Perhaps Hughes is one of the best qualified men in the nation for the place. Yet we find men in the senate opposing him on technical grounds. Some for personal reasons and others because Mr. Hughes was employed at one time by big corporations and big business men.

Large industries and capital do not hire fools or shyster attorneys to transact their legal business. They secure the best brains money can buy and get able men to try their cases in the high courts. Millions some times are involved in lawsuits which require the services of able attorneys to unravel the intracacies of law and this is the reason astute attorneys are employed.

The fact that Mr. Hughes was retained by big business to do its work ought to have been a splendid recommendation for the high place, knowing that only able men are thus employed. It should not have been a detriment.

Mr. Hughes is not only an able lawyer but a just and honest man who will do his duty as chief justice fearlessly, honestly and ably.

We congratulate President Hoover on his splendid selection. We also commend Senator Samuel M. Shortridge for his vote for confirmation of Hughes and for his eloquent address in the senate in advocating the confirmation of the great lawyer. Senator Shortridge in his vote on this affair has won for himself the hearts of the people of California.

Advertise In Your Home Town Paper

The Oswego, Oregon, Review runs the following interesting quotation from the American Banker's Magazine, using it as an advertisement:

"No businessman in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns.

"This applies to all kinds of business and professional men. It does not mean that you should have a whole, half, or even a quarter page ad each issue of the paper, but your name should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in the town by looking at a paper. This is the best possible town advertiser.

"The man who does not advertise his business does an injustice to himself and the town. The life of a town depends upon the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising business man."

Listen to the Radio

Now one of the major broadcasting concerns announces that there will be a regular weekly broadcast instruction in reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic over the radio, with a hook-up that will take in most of the United States. The little red school house will shiver on its timbers at this new innovation by which one teacher will be able to handle a class of 5,000,000 pupils.

Enthusiasm

If you can't get enthusiastic about your work, it's time to get alarmed. Something is wrong.

Compete with yourself; set your teeth and dive into the job of breaking your own record.

No man keeps up his enthusiasm automatically.

Enthusiasm must be nourished with new actions, new aspirations, new efforts, new vision.

It is one's own fault if his enthusiasm is gone; he has failed to feed it.

And right here is the big reason why thousands of men hit highwater marks at thirty-five and then recede.

They can "do their work with their eyes shut," and that is the way they do it.

They have lost the driving power of enthusiasm.

They sleep at the switch. All they see in life is the face of the time clock. All they hear is the quitting whistle.

If you want to turn hours in minutes, renew your enthusiasm.—Papyrus.

Why the Toad Is So Useful

Toads and frogs are often called the gardener's most valuable helpers and they are encouraged to live in greenhouses as they are useful in destroying insects and vermin harmful to plant and vegetable life.

As a destroyer of bugs the toad has no equal in the animal world. The United States Department of Agriculture estimates that toads are worth $20 each per year to the farmers, for the number of noxious insects, bugs and worms which they destroy. Never harm a toad. He is nearly worth his weight in gold.

Toads are helpless little creatures and cannot easily escape if chased; sometimes persons call it sport to hurt creatures that cannot hit back, but such persons are usually cowards at heart, as well as ignorant. Boys often hurt toads because they have never been taught anything about their habits and value.

When warm spring days come you can watch the little toads in some pond. Do not take them away nor touch them, but it will be interesting to see them grow. At first you will see in the shallow water only long strings that look like tiny black beads floating in glass tubes. These are the toad's egs in a case of jelly to keep them from harm. In a few days the eggs will hatch — the black beads grow long and the little creatures inside begin to wriggle; soon they will be out of their cases and ready to swim. Then they become tadpoles.

How To Remain Young

Learn to relax.
Don't fight with yourself.
Keep shy of internal friction.
Don't waste time in vegeful thoughts. It never gets you anything but trouble and futility.
Don't feel that the world is set against you.
And don't let yourself cultivate the notion you're a great little fellow. For, as the paraphrasers of the beatitudes have it "Blessed is he who expecteth nothing, for he shall not be disappointed."

I well recall how, many years ago, my dear old dad took me aside one day and told me: "Don't every waste time, son, trying to get even with someone you fancy may have wronged you. Because, just as soon as you finish getting even with him there's bound to be someone else."—Bindry Talk.

Wage Earner A Big Factor

The Shreveport (La.) Times, commenting on the recent Hoover conference, sees much good to come from proper co-ordinated efforts of interests, and emphasizes the importance of considering the wage earner in any action taken, because "it is the wage earner who is the bigest factor in the sustaining of trade and keeping the wheels of industry awhirring. The man of small income keeps money in circulation; when his income is cut off or when he fears lest he may be thrown out of employment, a restriction of business and industry follows. The wage earner is the great economic factor because of the multitude of people he represents."

A lot of the recent good buys of Wall Street turned out to be farewells.

25 YEARS AGO

Times-Gazette, Feb. 18, 1905

Mrs. Winter and Mrs. Vasquez went to Benecia last week to spend a few days with Rev. and Mrs. O. M. Hester.

Mrs. Banson, wife of Professor Benson of the grammar school, went to San Jose Friday to spend a few days with relatives.

Frank Covey, for years superintendent of the Stanford Stock Farm, but now of San Francisco, greeted old friends here Monday.

Charles Luscher has awarded a contract to George M. Mitchell to erect a new hotel at a cost of $6200. When completed the building will cost over $7000. Work on the structure will begin this week.

John McGreavy and Thomas Butler, two expert brick layers, who have worked on all of the Stanford buildings, are doing the work on the Carnegie library. None but the best mechanics will be employed on the building.

Charles Curran has given up his position with George Underhill, for whom he has worked for the past two years, in order that he may learn a trade. Gus Mullen, who has been with E. P. Heise, has taken the place at Underhill's.

Adolph Plump, the local artist, has ornamented the big mirror at the Alhambra bar with the painting of a fire scene. The central figure is a Redwod City fireman of Company No. 3, who is extinguishing a burning building. The inspiration for this work was without doubt the masquerade ball which will be given tonight by Hose Company No. 3.

William Lutje and Miss Emma Allain, both of this city, went to San Jose Tuesday and were united in marriage by Justice of the Peace Benson. Mr. Lutje has resided in Redwood City for the past two years, and has many friends. He is employed as a roller at Frank's tannery. Mrs. Lutje was born and raised here and has many friends who wish her joy in her married life. Mr. and Mrs. Lutje will continue to reside here.

Strengthening The Voice Currents

Lowering Loading Pot Into Manhole From Caterpillar-Type Trailer.

THE thicker the copper wire used in telephone transmission, the farther a voice can be heard. This is one of the principles of telephone communications that was discovered in the early days of the industry. To continue to increase the size of the wire as the range of transmission increased would be unpracticable and would make the Long Distance telephone lines too costly for commercial use.

The invention of the loading coil helped overcome this difficulty, permitting the use of wire of small diameter. The loading coil on a telephone circuit consists of a core of magnetic material which is wound round with insulated wire, something like a doughnut in general appearance. These coils, incased in loading pots, are inserted in the circuits at definite intervals along the telephone lines, thus making them better carriers of telephone currents.

SNEAK THIEF GETS MONEY FROM GARAGE

A sneak thief on Tuesday secured $20 from the pockets of clothing belonging to Jos. Smith, garage proprietor. Smith had changed his clothes and had left the money in the pockets of the clothing hanging in the garage. He was at work at the rear of the shop when he noticed a man leaving by the front door. It was then that he found his money missing.

Smith had a good look at the man and gave a description to the Redwood City police. A search was made of a train which left a few minutes after the robbery, but the thief was not found on the train.

Lomita Merchant Stabbed in Fight

What is believed to have been an attempted burglary of a fruit stand in Lomita Park Tuesday night, was balked by R. W. Zeigler, proprietor of the stand. But in saving his property, Zeigler suffered painful physical injuries.

Zeigler had closed his place for the night, but before going to his home in San Francisco went to a nearby cafe for a sandwich. On leaving the place for his home he noticed a car parked in front of his fruit stand, and a man evidently trying to break open the door of the shop.

Zeigler accosted the man, and was immediately attacked by two others who were in the machine. One of the men drew a knife, the other two knocked Zeigler down. The three men ran to the machine and drove away. Zeigler was taken to the Mills Memorial hospital by D. E. Gordon, proprietor of the cafe, where he had been eating. Gordon also reported the affair to the San Mateo police.

ESTATE OF JOHN DOMPA

Man Near Death; Gang War Victim

San Francisco's gang warfare, which so often crosses the county line to perpetrute its foul deeds, again found a victim, and left him dying beside the road near Salada Beach. The man, Clifford Holland, 24, of Hayward, was "taken for a ride" Monday. Brought in a car by three men from San Francisco, he was shot several times and thrown out of the car at Salada Beach. He was later found and removed to St. Luke's hospital in San Francisco, where little hope is held for his recovery.

Holland told authorities that the three men who brought him from San Francisco were Edward (or Robert) Calhoun, Joe Shan and a man named Garcia. He claims that the shooting was done by Calhoun.

TWO ARRESTED FOR PALO ALTO POLICE

Undersheriff Edward Farrell and members of the Palo Alto police force Tuesday night arrested C. Barajas and L. Espinini in South San Francisco. Both men were wanted by the Palo Alto police on a charge of threatening the life of Mrs. B. Romero, a Palo Alto woman, in a quarrel over the renting of a house.

The two men were booked at the county jail here, and then released to the Palo Alto police for return to Santa Clara county.

WHAT EDITORS SAY OF TELEPHONE

Blessings That Brighten When Lost

A whole generation has grown up to which the telephone appears indispensable. It is accepted almost as if it were a gift of nature. Only when something goes wrong with it do we stop to realize that it is the result of inventive skill and the application of vast capital. Some people rashly say that it adds to the annoyances of life, but it is certain that without it our complicated civilization could not now go on.—New York Times.

A Step Ahead

The telephone industry must always be a step ahead of our civilization. Fulfilling the needs of the present, it must be ready and prepared to meet the still greater demands of the future. In all phases of modern life, whether in closing a gigantic business deal, or in ordering a pound of meat from the butcher, the telephone performs a necessary service. It has been a major factor in adding to the comfort and prosperity of the nation, and in assisting our domestic and industrial development.—Huntingdon (Pa.) News

Robert Moore's Death Occurs In San Francisco

Robert Moore, who died in San Francisco last Sunday, maintained a beautiful home here adjoining the estate of Senator Samuel M. Shortridge. He loved the place, spending large sums of money on it for its beautification and attractiveness. A corps of gardeners was at work all the time. It is understood the widow will continue to keep it up. Moore was the owner of the Risdon Iron Works in San Francisco and part owner of other enterprises. He was a millionaire, much of his fortune having been acquired during the late war. The Moore shipbuilding company built numerous ships for the government during the conflict. Mr. Moore was liberal with his money and was unostentacious in his gifts to charity. He will be missed by many.

Dissatisfaction with developments in civic affairs in Menlo Park has caused numerous meetings of residents for several months past, with the result that a special committee was appointed for the purpose of selecting candidates for the coming election of three trustees in April next.

In order that there may be no question as to the type o citizens and qualification required, the committee has signed the following statement:

We, the undersigned citizens and taxpayers of Menlo Park, believing that the development, growth and welfare of our city depends wholly upon the type of men who are elected to serve us as trustees, and that harmony is a vital necessity on our board of trustees, have agreed to serve as a committee for the purpose of selecting and "drafting" men as candidates who are public spirited, fearless ,and free from any commitments other than a pledge to serve their city to the best of their ability and to work for those improvements and developments that are desired by the majority of the residents:

Keith Bering's five-piece orchestra from Stanford University will furnish the music.

In keeping with the occasion, the cherry tree motif will be used in decorations. Several novelties are planned, and it is expected that at least 300 students and grads will appear.

Patrons and patronesses invited are Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Cloud, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Argo, Mr. and Mrs. Otis M. Carrington, Mr. and Mrs. James Hedge and Mr. and Mrs. John Gill. All of the patrons are either graduates or have taught at Sequoia.

Proceeds from the dance will go toward establishing a scholarship for the graduating class at Sequoia high school. An admission charge of 25 cents for women and 50 cents for men will be made. Other events on the Sequoia Alumni Association calendar this year are the annual play April 11 and the banquet June 7.

President of California Real Estate Association Addresses Peninsula Real Estate Boards

ing population of the world. This is not an idle statement or a sentimental phrase, but a statement of fact, based on reason and arrived at only after a personal investigation, research and visit to almost every important production and distribution center around the world.

"Recently there has been a noticeable change in the size of industrial endeavors taking place in California. A unit of operation ten years ago seldom exceeded a million dollars, while in the current year over thirty came into being in our state, ranging from one million to fifty millions each in size, and many of our smaller concerns have made advances meaning tremendous progress.

"The greatest producers of California advocates in the past have been the realtors of our state. They have taken the raw recruits from all over the world and inspired them with the "Spirit of California." What in the past has been termed "boosting and boasting" for lack of a better name by the uniniated, has been carefully analyzed and is found to be the "Spirit of California."

"After visiting thirty-two of the principal industrial communities of the world during 1928, I firmly believe and I tell you advisedly that the industrial capital of the world will soon be California, and that California will before long be the happy home of more people than any state in the Union. As a whole, after careful observance around the world, I believe there is a larger percentage of really happy citizens in California than in any other spot on earth, and happy citizens are satisfied citizens. They are the type who "run over" with and broadcast this delightful "Spirit of California."

"The great recently discovered natural gas and oil field in the Kettlemen Hills in San Joaquin Valley has started a movement that will give the state of California, and Redwood City and the peninsula district a huge and lasting supply of fuel for industrial purposes that should add much to your industrial life.

"That California can raise enough food and supplies to care for a population five times as great as it has today is a statement that cannot be challenged.

"Do you know that California and the immediately adjacent state produce from their soil by cultivation, and from their ground in mineral and metallic form in commercial quantities, 85% of all of the different kinds of raw and crude materials that go to make up the industrial list of the world; and the 15% not available in commercial quantities can be imported and laid down at California ports at a price equalling the delivery to any other industrial center in the United States.

"Until every known commodity is prepared in this state and made ready for the ultimate consumer, we will still have opportunity for industrial and commercial growth and employment of California citizens. We have no restrictions, we have no fetters to break, we have no unfavorable traditions or environment of the past to break down.

"All of this great progressive development in the state of California has taken place in an orderly manner. The preparation for the present is complete — fuel, power, water, satisfied labor, raw and crude materials, transportation to the world-wide markets, a receptive and industrial-minded citizenship, a co-operative loyalty to our state, and a wholesome welcome to all the strangers who come in, both in a business and social way, are so well synchronized that big industries and commercial organizations fit into our midst without a ripple or a discontented gesture.

"In observing Redwood City and its environs, I cannot discover any good economic reason why Redwood City in an industrial and commercial way cannot take advantage of all of the fourteen points that I have heretofore mentioned to convince you of the present and future industrial and commercial opportunities of California.

"Your community is among the first in the tanning industry of the state; you have a large cement plant; your neighbor a short distance on the north, San Mateo, has a large chemical corporation; you have a salt works; a large insulation manufacturing plant; and several smaller manufacturers of chemicals, insulation and insectisides; you are preparing deep water channels as well as installing railtracks to serve your industrial property, in fact you are making an excellent preparation to add to the industries that you already have.

an excellent conection with the

"The Dumbarton bridge gives you productive delta counties of San Joaquin and Contra Costa. You are successfully manufacturing magnasite and magnesia in its various forms; and you have a large fruit processing and preserving plant; you have also an asbestos and rubber plant, a good sized publishing concern; and many other starts in industrial endeavor.

"In this section of the peninsula, and in Burlingame, Atherton, San Mateo and Palo Alto, you have additional residential territory second to none, not only for the workmen's homes but for the mansions and palaces of the wealthy.

"I started out to indicate the economic reasons why industry of practically every type should succeed in your city and finally decided that it would be much easier to name the reasons why industary, generally could not operate in your midst, and in looking for those reasons, I find there are none. So, my friends, I think in the preparing of deep water channels and the filling of the land so that it is ready for immediate occupancy by industries, and the installation of railroad spur tracks and streets; with water, power and natural gas and fuel oil for fuel, that you have made a preparation for the location of industry within your midst that should receive consideration from industrial leaders seeking economic and profitable locations.

"For your information, an industry employing 1000 people, and a payroll therefrom, is equivalent to approximately 4000 acres of full-bearing prune trees in the annual production of wealth in your community, and the further equivalent—in non-productive wealth— to about 10,000 acres in grain. Thus you will see that productive industrial em ployment is the source of new wealth, the same as products from the soil, and if you are able to procure industries in the next few years with a total employment of 1000, you will be adding to your community wealth at the same rate that you would if you were the center of a farming community made up of 10,000 acres in grain and 4,000 acres in prunes.

"I am making these comparisons in order that you may see, as fully as I do, that this industrial effort is worth while. I can vision the peninsula south of San Francisco and Redwood City in particular as yours seems to be the first community on the east side of the peninsula south of South San Francisco that is making an industrial effort) taking on the same industrial appearance as Long Island City and Brooklyn adjacent to New York, or some of the great industrial communities on the New Jersey side of the Hudson river; and the great shipping facilities of San Francisco bay, and the ship lines operating out of that port distributing the products of your factories for the world-wide markets."

Pointing out that property owners and realtors represent the commodity that is taxed to carry on 70 to 80 per cent of the governmental expenses, President Daum urged the local boards with the co-operation of the property owners to carefully watch and counsel with the local government divisions so that burdensome assessments do not prevail.

"It is believed," said the speaker, "that the time is coming when property owners will be organized throughout the land in connection with the realtors, and when that time comes, the vast outlays of capital and taxes required to run our government will be expended with considerable more caution that at the present time."

The principal objects of the California RealEstate Association were outlined by President Daum as follows:

1. To unite the real estate men and women of this state for the purpose of exerting effectively a combined influence upon matters affecting real estate interests.

2. To enable the members of the State Association to transact all business connected with real estate to better advantage by the adoption of such rules and regulations as may be deemed proper.

3. To promote and maintain the high standards of conduct in the transaction of the real estate business expressed in the Code of Ethics as formulated by the National Association of Real Estate Boards, heretofore adopted by the State Association, and to enforce that code among the members of the State Association in all their dealings.

4. To co-operate with other organizations in the civic development and the economic growth of the State of California, to promote the substantial progress and development of the State and all its resources.

5. To advocate legislation beneficial to real estate, its owners and licensed real estate brokers and salesmen, and to oppose legislation detrimental thereto.

6. To lend assistance to the enforcement of the State Real Estate Department Act.

President Daum was followed by Glenn D. Williaman, secretary of the state association, who spoke on the growth and development of the association during the past 25 years, now being the largest in the United States, with more than 100 seperate real estate boards. Williaman covered briefly the problems of the various cities and communities as were found by President Daum and himself on their official tour of the state and explained what is being done in an effort to solve them.

Both President Daum and Secretary Williaman paid tribute to Dave L. Walter of this city, regional vice-president of the Eighth District of the California Real Estate Association, and the officers and members of the local boards for their untiring efforts in behalf of civic betterment.

Mayor Henry A. Beeger on behalf of Redwood City, welcomed the distinguished guests at the banquet Wednesday night. Henry Witte, past president of the Redwood City district board and chairman of the committee on arrangements, acted as chairman of the meeting. D. St. George of Belmont, was introduced as the president of the local board.

During the dinner there was community singing led by Charles G. Lambert. The local Kiwanis Club postponed its regular Wednesday noon meeting until the evening and the members attended the banquet one hundred precent. The Exchange Club, Lions Club and the Yomecan Club were also well represented, as were the San Mateo County Title Co. and the California Pacific Title Co.

D. St. George, president of the local board and Dave L. Walter, the regional vice-president, went up to San Francisco Wednesday morning and accompanied President Daum and Secretary Williaman to Redwood City. In the afternoon through the courtesy of M. J. Johnsson, superintendent of the Pacific Portland Cement Co., the distinguished guests with some 30 realtors and others, were taken in launches for a cruise on San Francisco bay out through Redwood harbor. A visit was also made to the cement plant.

The committee in charge of arrangement for the reception and entertainment of President Daum and Secretary Williaman on their visit here were Henry Witte, chairman; William J. Dusel and Dave L. Walter. Charles G. Lambert had charge of the entertainment at the dinner.

How to Play BRIDGE

Series 1929-30 by
Wynne Ferguson
Author of "PRACTICAL AUCTION BRIDGE"

Copyright, 1929, by Hoyle, Jr.

ARTICLE No. 19

A friend of mine invited me to play at his home the other night and asked me to criticize any mistakes of bidding or play that he might make. Here are three criticisms that were made that should benefit all players:

Criticism No. 1

: Y :
: A B :
: Z :

Hearts — 7, 5
Clubs — A, 9, 8, 5
Diamonds — K, Q, 10, 9, 7
Spades — 8, 4

No score, first game. Z dealt and correctly bid one diamond. A passed and Y bid one no trump. B passed and Z bid two diamonds. All passed and Y Z made three diamonds. As they also could have made three no trumps, I asked my friend, Z, why he rebid his diamonds.

His answer was that as he didn't have the ace of diamonds, he thought he ought to warn his partner of that fact by a rebid. I pointed out to him that an original suit bid shows two quick tricks, one of which must be in the suit bid. Quick tricks do not indicate aces, but merely that the bidder can win these tricks, either on the first or second round of the suit.

In the hand specified, Z held the ace of clubs, a winner on the first round, and the king queen of diamonds, a winner on the second round, so that his original bid of one diamond was a sound bid. When a bid is sound, there is no need to rebid to warn partner. Z's bid of two diamonds was an incorrect and unnecessary bid.

: Y :
: A B :
: Z :

Hearts — A, 7, 3
Clubs — J, 10, 4, 2
Diamonds — 9, 7
Spades — K, 10, 4, 3

No score, rubber game. B dealt and bid one no trump. Z passed and A bid two diamonds. Y bid two hearts and B and Z passed. A bid three diamonds, Y passed, B bid three no trumps and all passed. What is Z's proper opening lead?

Z led the ace of hearts and followed with the seven, thus allowing B, who held three hearts to the queen, to win a heart trick. The proper opening for my friend, Z, to have made was the trey of hearts. As Y held the K, J, 10, 9, 2, he would have played the king on the first trick and led back the jack. No matter what B then did, he could not have won a heart trick.

Remember this play for it comes up very frequently. When you hold three to an honor of your partner's suit and the no trump bidder is to your right, open low. The same rule holds true in case you hold four or more, although in that case you should open fourth-best. A low opening, therefore, in this position, should indicate either four or more or three to an honor.

The only exception to this rule occurs when the opener has two or more honors in sequence of his partner's suit. In that case, he should open the highest honor. In case he holds only two in the suit, one of which is an honor, he should open the honor. If the opponent who raises the no trump bid, after partner's suit bid, is on the leader's left, then the top honor should be led, irrespective of number.

Criticism No. 3

The opponents of my friend, Z, had bid three spades and he held a very good hand, one with which he felt pretty certain of winning at least four, possibly five tricks. Although there was no score, he doubled the three spade bid and the opponents just made the bid, thus scoring a game they couldn't have made except for the double. I pointed out to him the distinction between a free and a forced double.

A free double is a double of a bid that would score game, if made, irrespective of the double. For example, the double of a three spade bid, if the opponents have a score of ten or more towards game.

A forced double on the other hand is a double of a bid that will enable the opponents to score game if they make the double. For example, the double of three spades, if there is no score, will enable the bidders to score game if they make their bid.

The rule to follow in such cases is to make free doubles when you have a good chance to defeat the bid, but make forced doubles only when certain to defeat the bid.

Problem No. 18

Hearts — K, J, 9
Clubs — 4, 3
Diamonds — K, 10,
Spades — none

Hearts — Q, 10, 8, 7
Clubs — 10, 8, 6
Diamonds — none
Spades — none

: Y :
: A B :
: Z :

Hearts — none
Clubs — J, 9, 5, 2
Diamonds — Q, 9
Spades — A

Hearts — 6
Clubs — K, Q, 7
Diamonds — 6, 4
Spades — K

If spades are trumps and Z is in the lead, how can Y Z win all the seven tricks against any defense? Solution in the next article.

TWO SENTENCED HERE ON VAGRANCY CHARGE

Alexander Mortez and Prudential Lopez, both convicted on vagrancy charges in the court of Police Judge Edward I. McAuliffe on Monday, were sentenced Wednesday.

Judge McAuliffe sentenced the two men to terms of 90 days in the county jail, but suspended sentence on condition that both should leave the county and remain away for six months.

Lopez and Mortez were arrested on February 10 by Officers Snider and Roza. Then entered pleas of not guilty to charges of vagrancy and demanded a jury trial. Both were found guilty as charged after a trial before the jury.

HILLSBOROUGH SETS DATE FOR ELECTION

An election will be held in April to fill four places in the Hillsborough city council. The councilmen, whose terms expire are George A. Pope, Hall C. Ross, William P. Scott and Harry W. Poett.

The remaining member of the council is Richard G. Hooker, whose term does not expire this year.

GEORGE WELSH WILL FILED FOR PROBATE

Attorneys Ross & Ross of this city on Tuesday filed the will of George S. Welsh, Hillsborough stockman who last week took his own life sustaining severe injuries in an automobile accident. The will was dated May 8, 1929, and leaves $5 each to his two sons, William Welson and James Martin, who, the will states, will be cared for by their mother. The remainder of the large estate is left to the widow, Mrs. Rae Welsh, who is to serve as executrix without bonds.

WOODSIDE

A new flag-pole, the tallest in Woodside, has just been erected at the Jackling place. It is a steel pole, one hundred feet high and is set in a six-ton concrete base. Mr. and Mrs. Jackling will not return to their home here before the middle of May, but Dr. and Mrs. Allen and family, who have been with the Jacklings on their tour of the world, are expected to arrive about the first of April.

The Woodside Inn, under its new management, opened for business on Monday.

The card party held on Wednesday afternoon for the benefit of the Woodside Girl Scouts, was in every way a success and a tidy sum was added to the treasury of the organization.

Mr. and Mrs. George Shine will be in charge of the regular monthly card party to be given by the Parent-Teacher Association on Friday evening.

Ground was broken on Monday for a new store building to be erected by Neuman Brothers. That sounds like a simple statement of a business venture but to the inhabitants of Woodside it means more than that. For Neuman Bros. store represents something more than a mere commercial organization. It is a Wodside institution that has been identified for many years with the life and progress of Woodside. The Neuman store was first opened by the elder Neuman in 1876 and has been in existence ever since, although the present organization dates from 1902, when its management was taken over by Al Neuman acting for the children of the original owner. Up till the time of the destruction of the building and much of the stock by the eartquake of 1906, the store stood on the La Honda road, opposite the old Neuman homestead, now the property of Herman Wobber.

Within three days after the quake the store opened in its present location and for twenty-three years it has not only sold goods but has acted as financial adviser, banker and friend in need to many residents of this section and of the coastside. It is one of the old type of country stores of which there are fewer now than twenty-five years ago. Here you can buy a box of crackers or a box of dynamite, a paper of pins or a combined harvester.

It is reported that the new store is to be divided into departments, which may add to convenience but will take away some of the picturesque character of the old institution.

American Legion Dance At Pacific City Feb. 22

On Saturday evening, February 22, Burlingame Post of the American Legion is holding a Grand Masquerade Ball at Pacific City. One of the many features in connection with the dance is a Queen Contest, the winner of which is to be presented with an automobile. Considerable interest and rivalry has been exhibited in the contest as a result of which and in view of the large number of tickets already sold, a record gathering is expected. There will also be $50 in prizes distributed during the evening to many fortunate winners. Music will be furnished by Fred Lamb's 10-piece orchestra. Dancing will begin at 8:30 p. m. and free buses will be provided between Burlingame and Pacific City.

PROWLER SENTENCED TO 90 DAYS IN JAIL

An unexpected call at the home of Judge Edward I. McAuliffe last Friday night will cost Louis Kaufman a three months' stay at the county jail.

The McAuliffe house was in darkness when Kaufman rang the door bell, supposedly to make sure that no one was at home. The judge was home, however, and when he opened the door, Kaufman could make no explanation of what he wanted and turned and ran away. He was arrested by Officers Snider and Roza and given a hearing before Judge Percy Jackson of Burlingame, sitting for Judge McAuliffe, who was the complaining witness.

Kaufman pleaded guilty to a vagrancy charge, and was sentenced to serve 90 days in the county jail.

Fred Irwin, who has been at the South San Francisco hospital for the past two weeks undergoing an operation, returned to his home here Wednesday. He wil return to his duties as salesman for a wholesale meat concern in about two weeks.

POLITICALLY SPEAKING

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 17— (UP) — Young vs Fitts!

That's the way the forthcoming campaign for governor of California lines up today, as a result of the unexpected announcement by State Controller Ray L. Riley that he was withdrawing from the race, and would seek re-election to his old position as state controller.

Several things combined to bring about Riley's decision. His health was probably the most important. It is known that his personal physician had advised him against making a campaign so arduous as the one into which the gubernatorial fight was fast developing.

Then, too, Riley sincerely believed, as he expressed it, that his candidacy might "become a source of disruption instead of a rallying point of strength for the Republican party."

His withdrawal at this time leaves him a strategic position. He can run for governor again at some future date, if he desires. The statewide publicity he has received will do him no harm. He can win the Republican nomination for controller, hands down. And it will not be too much of a strain on him, physically.

Now the political spotlight is being turned on Mayor James Rolph of San Francisco, whose friends still insist in waiting for the proper time to announce his candidacy. Shrewd political observers at Sacramento insist, however, that Rolph has no desire to become the third corner of a triangular fight for the governorship.

Should the race finally simmer down to a battle between Governor Young and District Attorney Fitts it will be a sizzling campaign with issues clean-cut at the start. Northern California vs Southern California. Johnson vs Hoover. Economy in government vs reorganization. And right in the thick of it will be Former Governor Friend W. Richardson.

There's no doubt that Fitts supporters will hammer hard at Governor Young on the Hoover-Johnson issue, particularly in the light of recent developments at Washington, D. C. These indicated that the truce between the Hooverites and the Johnsonians in California, declared during the last presidential campaign, is apparently at an end.

Riley's withdrawal was the stop signal for a quartet of candidates who flocked into the field to seek his position as controller. Every one of them promptly issued announcements of their retirement in his favor, which was the sportmanlike thing to don in face of the circumstances.

These included George M. Stout, secretary of the Veterans Welfare Board; George G. Radcliff, Watsonville publisher; State Senator Edwin A. Mueller of San Diego, and Ted Kelly, deputy state real estate commissioner.

"See me about a telephone before the next rain!"

Last night Mr. Brown had to go out in the rain to telephone.

This was because the Browns have no telephone at home.

He went out to a public telephone at the drug store to send a private call. But when he got there, the first call he sent was to the Telephone Company, and he said:

"Come and talk to me about a telephone before the next rain!"

Swedish Prince Is Star Skater

True to the traditions of his northern country, Prince Bertil, third son of Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus of Sweden, is here shown enjoying himself at one of his country's most popular sports. The royal enthusiast, who inherits the aged king's love of sport, was caught by the camera as he poised himself for a skim over the ice. He has won many skating prizes at interscholastic meets.

CALLS IT PEACE WITHOUT VICTORY

Return of Hawkeyes Fails to Arouse Enthusiasm.

Characterized by the Daily Iowan, University of Iowa student newspaper, as "a peace without victory," the Western conference action in reinstating the Hawkeyes has failed to arouse much enthusiasm on the Old Gold campus.

There was obvious disappointment, which in some quarters merged into outspoken resentment, over the conference barring the way to further attempts by Iowa to seek reinstatement of eleven athletes. Hawkeye athletic officials who were openly jubilant when news of Iowa's reinstatement first reached the campus later refused to make statements when they learned that a plea to have the athletes restored to good standing would be turned down.

While athletes themselves all denied reports that they would leave Iowa, they were almost unanimous that the conference refusal to consider a reinstatement plea was unjust. Mike Farrell, three sport star and co-captain elect of the football team, said: "It is the greatest disappointment of my life. I am certain a rehearing should be given all of us. I had no idea we would be barred from further competition."

Knute Rockne, football coach of Notre Dame, will lead another group of tourists to Europe next summer. Rockne's health has improved sufficiently to permit him to devote some time to the details of his trip.

William V. McCarthy, head coach of baseball at New York university, will act as Rockne's representative in the East for the European tour, while Dr. R. N. Blackwell, business manager of athletics at Southern Methodist university, will serve in a like capacity in the South.

In the summer of 1928, Rockne led a party to the Olympic games, which was the largest movement to Europe ever directed by an individual.

The boy's there, so you say when Babe Ruth hits a homer. Ditto for what you say when Charley Hyatt of Pittsburgh university shoots a goal in basketball. Ruth takes his cut and the ball goes places and Hyatt takes his shot and the ball snaps the laces.

Charles, who is captain and forward of the Pittsburgh team, has been overloading the big time box scores for three years. He recently hit his high mark by picking up 27 points in one game. Anybody who can do that in a major engagement must be good.

Hyatt did his high scoring act in a recent game against Montana State. It was his twelfth and last field goal that gave Pittsburgh their winning margin of one point.

Black-haired and boasting the build of a good, rugged halfback, Hyatt has remarkable endurance. And the pace never gets too hot for him.

In the University of Iowa corner of the wrestling ring has always sat a winner in the 145-pound class since Albert Montgomery set a precedent last year by winning in all of six dual meets. "Monty," who is a medical student, won the conference crown with three eliminations and was third in national intercollegiate competition.

Allen Whitten of Bayard started out against the strong University of Oklahoma squad recently with a fall in two minutes to uphold the tradition. He is a junior.

After 35 years of association with the sport, both as a player and an official, Dr. Sumner Hardy, president of the California Lawn Tennis association, has announced his decision to retire from all tennis activities.

The British Olympic council, at a recent meeting in London, unanimously decided that the association should be represented at the International Olympic congress in Berlin in May. The question of allowing competitors to receive payment for loss of salary was debated, and its was decided the British Olympic association's delegate to the congress will oppose any effort put forward to allow amateurs to receive such payments in any guise whatever.

According to reports from California, Peter des Jardines of Miami, Fla., double winner in fancy diving at the last Olympic, has returned to Stanford university and will resume competitive activities shortly. The Cardinals count with his aid on again sweeping everything before them in varsity aquatics on the coast, as they have two other trump cards in hand, Reginald Harrison, crack sprinter, and Austin Clapp, middle distance ace.

Eloping Heiress and Her Husband

The former Miss Margaret Couzens, twenty-one-year-old heiress to the $50,000,000 fortune of Senator Couzens of Michigan, with William Chewning, twenty-eight-year-old bank clerk, after their elopement to Baltimore and marriage there. They were promptly forgiven by Senator and Mrs. Couzens and welcomed back to Washington. Mr. Chewning is the scion of a prominent Virginia family.

When Mr. Schurman Left Berlin

Effective Pitching

Ben Cantwell of the Braves made a most unimpressive start last season, winning only 4 and losing 13 games. He was next to the last pitcher in the league in the won and lost averages, but he ranks about the middle in the list of league pitchers when it comes to the earned run per game averages, with 4.48. And this mark designates his real pitching effiectiveness. Charlie Root, who led the league in games won and lost, had an earned run percentage of 3.47.

Drugs Excite the Kidneys, Drink Water

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble because we often eat too much rich food. Our blood is filled with acids which the kidneys strive to filter out; they weaken from overwork, become sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache, or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or if you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, begin drinking lots of good water and get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer are a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.

SHE DID NOT NEED GREGORY'S PICTURE

(©, by D. J. Walsh.)

GREGORY placed his tray on the cafeteria table and arranged the dishes. He thought bitterly of the dinners he had eaten with Helen at that table. Not a fashionable restaurant, yet it served food that was extremely satisfying, reminding them of the meals in the small town from which they had come. There was the same baked ham, full quarter cuts of pumpkin and mince pie, and coffee piping hot.

Gregory sighed as he tasted his tomato soup. Never, he thought sadly, would he face Helen and hear her comments on the happenings of the week. He recalled the quarrel, which had terminated their meetings. He realized that it had been largely his own fault but he was too proud to attempt a reconciliation.

"If she wants to make up, let her say so," he reflected.

His soup grew cold as he tried to concentrate upon the Sunday paper. At last he pushed away both the paper and the soup and reached for his roast. How different the meat looked from that which Helen had commented on the week before.

"This roast is just like Aunt Tildy cooks," she had said.

Gregory pushed his plate away, his appetite gone. From his table near the rear he looked toward the street and debated whether to go into the storm, raging with winter fury. It seemed foolish to let a mere woman take away his appetite. Suddenly, he sat up as if an electric current had passed through his body. Four tables away was a woman he recognized. There was no one else who could wear that blue hat with that air. Yes, it was Helen!

She, too, seemed without appetite. Her knife and fork lay unused beside her and she looked into the street. Her back was toward Gregory and he could not see her face. He wondered if she felt as he did.

A form passed and repassed the street door, that of a man wrapped in a worn overcoat, its collar turned up to keep out the icy, snowladen wind. The man's face was covered with a stubble of beard, the growth of at least a week. His cheeks were emaciated from lack of food. Gregory did not look at him. He knew that he was passing and repassing but his thoughts did not go beyond the fourth table. He did not notice that the man looked hungrily at the food displayed in the window and once or twice moved as if to enter.

Gregory almost forgot his resolution not to attempt a reconciliation as he watched Helen, so attractive, so charming! Although her back was to him, he could picture her eyes, so beautiful, so tender! It is strange that he did not think of his last glimpse of them. They had been far from tender then. But he remembered only more pleasant days when they had reminded him of violets or June skies.

The woman arose and started toward the door. Gregory unthinkingly moved to follow, but remembered himself before carrying out the instinctive action. Helen opened the door but, instead of going outside, she beckoned toward the form moving back and forth there. The man obeyed her summons eagerly. Gregory could not hear their words but, a moment later, Helen led him to the counter and told him to fill a tray.

"I'll pay for it," Gregory heard her tell the cashier before returning to her table.

Later, the cashier presented a check and she counted out several coins. The object of her charity sat at a table near Gregory, who watched him, fascinated. He ate soup eagerly and audibly and fixed his eyes eagerly on the meat and potatoes to follow.

"Evidently hasn't had a quarrel with his sweetheart!" Gregory thought, taking a sip from his lukewarm coffee.

He finally gave up the task of trying to eat. His neighbor had emptied his tray and was resting in his chair, as emaciated as ever, but his famished look gone. Gregory saw Helen coming in his direction. His heart beat foolishly as he wondered if she would ask forgiveness. But she paused at the next table.

"Was everything all right?" she asked the man.

"Great," he answered. "And thank you. It's been months since I've had a meal like this."

"That's all right," Helen said, hastily. "I just thought that you must be hungry."

As she was about to turn away, she saw Gregory. Her eyes flashed and, tossing her head, she went toward the door. The tramp, with not a crumb left, followed. Gregory, realizing the impossibility of eating, trailed behind.

Outside, Gregory turned up his fur collar. Although it was only midafternoon, the atmosphere was gray and murky. He looked about to see what had become of Helen. Her form was almost indistinguishable through the thick curtain of snowflakes. Beside her was the man she had fed, waving his hands as if excited. Gregory did not like the looks of it and followed. They turned at the corner and he broke into a run. They were not more than twenty feet away when he reached the turn. They had paused and were talking.

"Come on now," the man said. "Gimme a dollar. You must have some dough. You wouldn't 've bought my dinner if it'd took your last cent. Nobody ain't goin' to go broke buyin' a bum a meal."

"But I say I've no more money," Helen protested. "Please go away. I've done all I can."

The tramp hesitated quickly about. No one was in sight. Gregory had stepped into a doorway. The tramp threw out his hand and grasped Helen's handbag.

"Let go," he commanded.

"Oh, no, no!" she screamed.

"Thought you didn't have any money," he grinned.

Gregory stepped out and laid a hand on the tramp's shoulder.

"Quit that," he ordered. "What are you doing? Some man you are, trying to rob a woman who's just given you the first square meal you've had in months."

The tramp gave the handbag a jerk. Its handle broke and he was free to fly. Gregory started to follow but the robber turned the corner and had disappeared when Gregory reached it. He returned to Helen.

"Hope you didn't have much money," he said.

"None at all," she answered, her eyes shining into his, "only your picture and I don't need it now that you've come back!"

"Helen!" he cried, taking her into his arms.

They stood alone on the snow-swept street, the chill wind striking them, but only summer warmth in their hearts.

Founder of Jesuit Order

Ignatius of Loyola, the founder of the Society of Jesus or Jesuits, was born in 1491 of a noble house at the castle of Loyola, Spain. He was a soldier, and desperately wounded in the war with France, and during his convalescence determined to become a "knight of Christ." He reported divine visions and commissions, and after much hardship succeeded in founding an order which devoted itself to the extension of the faith, particularly undertaking missionary work. This is one of the most powerful of the Roman Catholic religious organizations.

"I want this wagone she's be paint red!"

Early Birds

The nightingale, favorite songster of the British isles, confines his activities to the southeastern English counties bordering on the channel. The annual pilgrimage of the British Empire Naturalists' association to the Surrey downs is attended by visitors from the United States, Canada, New Zealand, Australia, Africa and India, who come to this favorite nesting place of the nightingale in the hours of darkness just to listen to the exquisite beauty of the bird's song.

Considerate Suicide

An unusual method of committing suicide was used by a man at Buryos, Spain. He attached a stone to a long copper wire and went out to find a high tension supply cable. He then wound the other end of the wire round his arm and threw the stone over the cable. He was found dead from electrocution with a note pinned to his hat warning others that they risked death if they touched him before the current was cut off.

Eel's Second "Heart"

The eel has in the tail a lymphatic sinus—that is an inclosed open space filled with lymph. The sinus pulsates and is, therefore, sometimes called the caudal heart. The sinus, however, is a simple structure and does not have the complex mechanism of a true heart.

A baby today, born into a reasonably intelligent family, stands a far better chance of developing into a healthy, happy and more reasonable human being than did his ancestors.—The Country Home.

Hope of Wealth From Copper Mines Given Up

The copper mines of Isle Royale are the graves of long-dead hopes. Following closely on the trail of the prehistoric miners, who had exhausted the available surface copper, Mr. Dustin says, the white prospectors, aided by modern methods and technical skill, toiled from 1847 to 1884 over the apparently rich lodes.

Thousands of dollars were sunk into the shafts, but so rigorous are the conditions of life on the island and so jealously does it guard its treasure that the dreams of wealth never materialized.

Now the wilderness has claimed its own. Deep down in the crystal waters of McCargoe's cove on the north shore lies the rotting crib of the old Minong mine dock. The road from the dock to the mines, once a broad thoroughfare, is a dense birch and poplar grove, laced with moose trails.

The mouths of deserted shafts are favorite wallows for the great beasts. In the heart of the forest are the huge dumps of red, copper-bearing rock with the hardy conifers taking root on their summits. The mouth of a drift, driven into a hillside, yawns blackly from the green and gold thicket. Four white birches stand guard before the door of the log smithy, now almost buried in the foliage. Timbering at the pit mouths lean crazily beneath their burdens of overhanging rock and seem scarcely able to withstand the fierce winter storms that sweep over them.

Another generation, it is said, and the last vestige of the white miners will vanish from Isle Royale. Only the shallow pits of the prehistoric miners will remain, as undisturbed, as unconquered by the elements, as in all the centuries that have passed over them.—Detroit News.

Savior's Image on Cross

The crucifix or cross with the image of the Savior upon it appears not to have been used before the Third century, and then apparently only by private persons. It was painted in the Syriac Evangelistry in 582. This is in the library at Florence, Italy.

Way to Happiness Simple says California Physician

After 28 Years' Practice Describes Natural Treatment which Keeps People Well

"AFTER over 28 years of the study and practice of medicine, during which time I have treated and supervised the treatment of almost every variety of human illness," writes Dr. Martin J. Dobson of Los Angeles, "I believe I have discovered the greatest blessing that has been bestowed upon the human family. Statistics show that of all classes of persons, physicians and nurses live to a riper old age than any other class of people. I believe this is no doubt due to the fact that they know more about the importance of daily elimination.

Dr. Dobson's Discovery

"The remedy I am speaking of is colorless, tasteless, harmless to the most delicate alimentary tract, from infancy to old age. It is non-habit-forming, and it is essential to the smooth running efficiency of the human body, which needs lubrication just like any other machine.

"This remedy is Nujol.

"Most human ailments can be traced to the alimentary tract for either the main or the contributing cause, and most of these disorders can be prevented or cured through proper cleansing and regulating by the administration of Nujol as per instructions on the bottle and wrapper, or as ordered by the physician or nurse."

Nujol Laboratories considers it a privilege to publish Dr. Dobson's endorsement of Nujol.

Physicians and nurses themselves use and advise you to use Nujol regularly to clean the poisons out of your body (we all have them), because these poisons are what make us feel headachy, depressed, low in our minds.

It is always safe to use Nujol, because it is not a medicine; it contains absolutely no drugs; it cannot hurt even the littlest baby; it forms no habit; it is non-fattening. Nujol is harmless internal lubrication.

What This Should Mean to You

In the last few weeks we have had over 5,000 letters from people all over the world, telling us how Nujol has helped them to happiness and success by keeping their bodies internally clean. You can buy Nujol in sealed packages at any drug store. It costs but a few cents, and it will make you feel like a million dollars.

Start Nujol tonight. Use it regularly for two weeks, and learn the joy and the happiness that comes from buoyant, zestful health!

Society

The Redwod City Woman's Club held it annual jinx in the club house on Clinton street yesterday afternoon. A luncheon was served at 1 o'clock and the rest of the day was spent in "fun" by the members of the club, most of whom appeared in costume.

In connection with the festivities, the dramatic section presented a ski depicting the "Voyage of the Jin..." Those taking part were Mrs. W. B. Kelly, Mrs. F. M. Perkins, Mrs. S. P. Hutchinson, Mrs. Norris C. Cummings, Mrs Charles Bartel, Mrs. John A. Gianelli, Mrs. Pierce, Mrs. R. E. Savage, Mrs Walter Steling, Mrs. George Peterson, Mrs. L. K. VonSavoye, Mrs. Guy R. Kennedy, Mrs. W. E. Brown, Mrs. John Lutge, Mrs. John Heckendorn, Mrs. Bess C. Balcomb and Mrs. J. M. Eastburn.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. J. W. Munday, Mrs. William J. Dusel, Mrs. Caswell D. Swett and Mrs. James D. Hedge.

Last Wednesday a jolly party from this city left by automobile to enjoy the beauties of far-famed Yosemite in its winttr grandeur and returned Sunday night feeling that each had a new lease on life Between sleigh riding, skating, tobogganing, dancing and other amusements, time flew too quickly, and all declared that when another year rolled around they would motor back to California's Switzerland of America.

The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hess, Sr., with their two granddaughters, Regina and Marie and Mrs. Marie Jansing; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hess, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McPhee, and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McAuliffe of Alameda and children.

The valley covered with its mantle of snow was described by members of the party as gorgeous. While not engaged in other pastimes, Mr. Hess, Jr., occupied his time in viewing the deer in the park and figuring just how fast they would remble if his two dogs, Frizzy Huff and Bob happentd to cross their tracks, while Mr. Hess, Sr., contented himself with purchasing a basket of apples each day and feeding the four-footed beauties that his son loves so much to hunt.

State Fire Record Low For Year

San Mateo County's Fires Hit High Mark

By ELWOOD SQUIRES .... ....
(United Press Staff Corespondent)

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 19— (UP)— Forest, range and brush fires outside national forest areas in California during 1929 numbered 3,468, covered 951,938 acres, and caused damage amounting to $1,328,001, according to a report by State Forester M. B. Pratt.

San Mateo county suffered $7,500 in damages, with 400 acres burned over, the report showed. Of the two fires reported in the county, none were caused by smokers, Pratt said.

Although the total damage was lower by more than $400,00 than the 1928 total, much damage was done inside town areas from range and forest fires, not reported in Pratt's summary( he said.

San Mateo and Marin counties were particularly heavy sufferers in this respect, the state forester declared. More than a million dollars damage was done at Mill Valley by the Mt. Tamalpias fire which spread into the town, and Pratt said a heavy loss occured in San Mateo county from fires spreading to homes there.

Smokers are blamed for more than 40 per cent of all the fires reported, the summary showed. Cigarettes, cigars and pipes are directly blamed for 1,279 conflagrations that raged in the state last year.

"Our reports showed 3,468 fires in California in 1929," Pratt announced, "but several counties have not reported fully on their losses. These counties have their own fire fighting organization and are not responsible to the state for reports.

"Although we are gratified that the total loss has dropped, we feel that the fight is a continual one and we must not be satisfied by merely dropping the total.

"Smokers as usual are the chief offenders. Each year we give widespread publicity to this prolific source of fire and it probably does some good. But until smokers realize the tremendous damage they do through their thoughtlessness our warnings will be of little use.

"Figures prove that the careless smokers are the greatest problem facing state efforts to cut down fire losses. Until this can be put across to the public we must be content to take a huge loss each year that will drop in a year of favorable weather and flare up again when conditions are bad."

Miss Constance Drathman and Miss Mary Stafford left yesterday for the Yosemite Valley to spend the week-end. They will return Tuesday.

Games Scheduled in Volleyball Contest

The seventh series of games in the second round of the Business Men's Volleyball League was scheduled to be played at the high school gymnasium this evening at 6 o'clock.

With but two more weeks of play and two games of major importance scheduled during this time, a great deal of interest is being centered around the playing of the first three teams in the league standing. The Postoffice holds first place with the Exchange and Kiwanis tied for second place with but one game behind the leaders. Nor is it impossible for one of the next three teams in line to forge ahead and tie things up for first place.

Thursday evening's play was to be as follows:

Yomecans vs Kiwanis.
Exchange vs. Bank of Italy.
Profs vs. Engineers.
Postoffice vs. Lions.
Titles vs. All Etars.

Stamp Club Plans For Fine Showing

Boys and girls in the Sequoia Philatelic Society are preparing displays of postage stamps for entry in the Californiad, which is the big annual affair for competition in practically all lines of endeavor for members of clubs promoted by the Young Men's Christian Association.

Two types of entries for those intenested in the hobby of stamp collecting, are being prepared. The one is a display of used U. S. Stamps of the present issue from the ½ cent to the $1 variety inclusive. These must be set up on card boards 22"x22" with the name of the person or place depicted and phase which characterizes the subject. The second type of display gives more leeway for ingenuity in the subject matter and preparation in that no subject is stipulated. One theme must be followed out such as "The League of Nations and Its Founder," "Great Muicians Shown on Postage Stamps, Etc."

Plans are to exhibit these displays in the large trophy case at the high school where the local work will be judged and then the best work of the other three clubs promoted by the Y. M. C. A. on the Peninsula will be brought in and the three best in each age group will be picked to go into competition with those of San Francisco.

Burlingame Post To Hold Dance In Pacific City

Mrs. E. K. Warden, 1122 Cabrillo Avenue, Burlingame, was last night declared queen of Burlingame Post 163, American Legion msaquerade ball, to be held Saturday evening, Washington's Birthday, at Pacific City. She wins the Whippet coupe in addition to the title.

Mrs. Warden was first with 126,800 votes; Mrs. Gladys K. Durham, 2501 Adeline Drive, second with 103,800 votes and Miss Elizabeth Canadas of San Mateo third, with 29,000. Miss Canadas entered the race only a comparatively short time ago and made an excellent showing. Ten contestants started in the race, which closed last night when the votes were counted by Mayor C. A. Buck, Chief of Police John J. Harper, and Harry Jenkins, City Councilman.

Crowning of Mrs. Warden will take place at 9:30 Saturday night at the ball to celebrate the opening of the Legion's new club house, which will be dedicated during the day with elaborate ceremonies.

The program for the dedication ceremonies is outlined as follows:

Parage will form at California Drive and Bellevue Avenue, Burlingame, at 12:30 P. M. sharp, and will march to the club house at Lorton and Bayswater avenues.

Immediately following the dedication the "Forty and Eight" will hold an initiation ceremony. Many visitors from Voitures throughout Northern California are expected for this event alone.

It is anticipated that the combined events planned by the Burlingame Post for Washington's Birthday will attract several thousand guests from all parts of the Peninsula, and judging by the number of tickets sold the attendance at the masque ball will be the largest of any affair of its kind ever held on the Peninsula.
